

Nate Weatherup

Nate Weatherup is a new, unique voice that just made the move from Chicago to Los Angeles. A former teacher, Nate has spent the last seven years working comedy clubs and theaters throughout the country.

On top of a busy tour schedule, Nate also competed in the finals of the 2011 World Series of Comedy in Las Vegas, and was invited to perform at the 2013 Great American Comedy Festival at the Johnny Carson Theater in Johnny's hometown of Norfolk, Nebraska.

He can often be seen opening for Dave Coulier from Full House and is a regular guest host on Pretty Late on WGN radio and WGN.com. Nate makes you take a long, hard look at education, culture and yourself with his sharp wit and unapologetic honesty.
